

“MAKING AMERICA
GULLIBLE
AGAIN”

The False ‘Gospel’ of Christian Nationalism, Dominionism, and the ‘Seven Mountain Mandate’ in the USA

ABSTRACT

An Investigative Paper in which the religion and affiliations of Mr. CK and his political organisation, ‘Turning Point USA’, are examined and exposed as being incompatible with the true Gospel of Jesus Christ. Whereby we see the importance of not being deceived by outward appearances, by which even many of those professing to be ‘Christians’ are strangely mesmerised and turned.

“Do not judge according to outward appearance, but judge justly” (John 7:24).

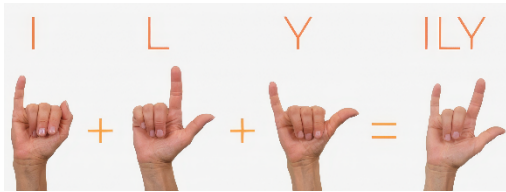

“The LORD said to Samuel, ‘Do not consider his appearance or height, for I have rejected him; the LORD does not see as man does. For man sees the outward appearance, but the LORD sees the heart’” (1 Samuel 16:7).

“Beware of false prophets. They come to you in sheep’s clothing, but inwardly they are ravenous wolves. By their fruits you will recognize them” (Matthew 7:15-16).

“Their minds are set on earthly things; but our citizenship is in heaven, and we eagerly await a Saviour from there, the Lord Jesus Christ” (Philippians 3:19-20).

PROLOGUE: Some Necessary Preliminary Remarks

Before I embark on the main text of this paper, I have to say the following: If you have come here to see which of the umpteenth wacky conspiracy theories on the internet I am endorsing about the shooting of Mr. CK, you will be disappointed. I never treat speculation as if it was truth. If I was to do so, I would undermine my credibility as a Bible teacher, counsellor, writer, investigator and even my integrity as a human being. How would you be able to take seriously someone who supplants truth with speculation? It would be like committing literary suicide!

I have seen some truly ridiculous theories which make a mockery of what the ‘conspirator’ is claiming. Just as one pertinent example — which I have seen repeated in many contexts — when someone makes a hand signal with the first and last fingers up and the middle two down, with the thumb out (as Mr. CK’s wife did on a stage to the crowd, and was subsequently accused by many of being involved in a satanic ritual), they are said to be signalling the devil’s horns. Major fail. They are using sign language for the deaf to say, “I love you”. It is a combination of the signs for the letters “I”, “L” and “Y” together. If the thumb is out, it has nothing to do with horns. Besides, Satan does not have horns as he is spirit. Horns are just the graphic stuff of legend. Do you now see why one has to go beyond the surface in absolutely everything?

In this paper, I may ask some pertinent questions regarding the incident itself which I believe do raise some considerable suspicions. But that does not mean the endorsement of any conspiracy theories as if they are facts. I am an ‘old-style journalistic investigator’ of the ‘no-stone-unturned’ persuasion and not a new-fangled conspiracy nut! [And if you want to know the difference between old-style conspiracy investigators and new-fangled conspiracy nuts, you can read an article from three years ago which I wrote about it at this link on my website: <https://diakrisis-project.com/2022/08/27/difference-between-old-style-conspiracy-investigators-and-new-fangled-conspiracy-nuts/>].

I just wanted to make this clear from the outset. Even though I may have many suspicions myself, I am not so irresponsible that I would share them with others publicly as that could throw shade on my writings in general if those suspicions were eventually shown to be baseless. This paper is first and foremost an examination of the religion and aims of Mr. CK. I believe that many have been deceived (seduced) by his outward appearance and style and have thereby been blinded to his true aims and actions. That seduction is one of those instances when judgements have been made based on superficial appearances rather than by discerning justly what is the case of the matter. I hope that you are brave enough to join me in my deliberations rather than continuing to perpetuate the mass psychogenic illness which seems to have taken hold of the political and religious scene in both the USA and UK in recent times.

Frankly, one has to smell a rat when the establishment and the ‘powers-that-be’ go out of their way to make someone into a hero and even censor or punish you if you do not go along with that ‘hero narrative’, no matter how politely. Even more so when that person is claimed to be a Christian. This world is no friend of the true faith. Not at all. Quite the contrary, in fact. For the world will hate you. You can be the most winsome, polite, charming Christian in the world; but if you are proclaiming the truth uncompromisingly with your words and living a life which backs that up, you will be disliked at best, hated at worst. A genuine disciple of Christ would certainly not be fêted across the world as a hero by the establishment. This is a biblical fact (2 Timothy 3:12; Matthew 10:22; 24:9; John 15:18-21; Romans 8:36; 1 John 3:13); and it is very pertinent to our investigations here.

In this paper, I am not making any kind of statement about the soul-condition of Mr. CK and his standing before God. That is not my place. Whether he was a genuine child of God I cannot say. Only God knows that. However, we must remember that it is not by their words that people give away the status of their faith but by their actions. “By their fruits you will know them” (Matthew 7:16). Anyone can sound super-kosher through what they say, especially if they understand the power of oratory. But if their actions and associations do not square up with what they say, then there has to be some concern.

I would not ordinarily write a piece like this. I certainly take no pleasure in it. I would far rather be writing an expository piece on a Bible text or some wholesome subject to do with our common faith and sanctification. But when a government is forcing me to make a hero and martyr for the faith of someone whose actions contradict that faith (and who I do not believe died because of it), then I am forced to say something, even at the risk of losing all my friends and subscribers. My mission statement clearly and publicly states the following elements:

“Investigative exposition on any world developments which are of spiritual and prophetic interest. Exposing deception and cultism both in the ‘Christian’ scene and on the wider world stage. Providing counsel and encouragement for the confused”.

I believe that the words in this paper fulfil those aims. I hope that you will find the words below — even if they will be challenging to your current beliefs and sometimes even shocking — to be helpful, explanatory and even encouraging.

I. THE RED FLAGS ON THE ASSOCIATIONS AND RELIGIOUS AFFILIATIONS OF MR. CK

In this section, I want to examine briefly the fruits (actions) of Mr. CK in terms of his religious proclivities, his human associations, and what these reveal about him.

First, there is...

1) His Love of Mormons

I do not know whether this is by design or through naïvety or just sheer stupidity. The strange truth is that at least half of Mr. CK's team at ‘Turning Point USA’ are Mormons, members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. What is more, he loves them being there. As was stated in the media after the shooting:

“Charlie Kirk was gunned down at a Utah college event on Wednesday moments after delivering a glowing tribute to the Mormon faith, which the alleged killer himself had been raised in. The 31-year-old Turning Point USA founder had just praised the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and bantered with a Mormon audience member when a high-powered rifle round struck him in the neck, killing him on stage. ‘I love how Mormons send missionaries around the world, I love how polite they are. ... Half my team is Mormon — Mormons are great people’, Kirk told a rapt audience, drawing a loud cheer shortly before the fatal shot rang out. ‘I’m an evangelical Christian, but I’m not one of those guys that hates on Mormons’”.

<https://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-15087009/Charlie-Kirk-praised-Tyler-Robinsons-Mormon-upbringing-family-moments-shot-neck.html>). You can even watch a video of Mr. CK saying those very words at this link here: https://x.com/justin_hart/status/1965955654633533830 .

However it is not a question of “hating on Mormons”. That is a straw-man smokescreen which is almost as bad as the Left wing people accusing folks of being ‘phobic’ if they do not agree with something! It is not “hating” someone to believe and tell the truth about them, even if that truth happens to be damning. Rather, it is a question of openly accepting that Mormonism is a wolf in sheep’s clothing which superficially looks like a ‘Christian denomination’ but in reality is a monumentally wealthy cult which roots its teachings in the wacky ‘special revelations’ of a false teacher called Joseph Smith. I suppose that Mr. CK would have called that “hate-speech”. But it is not. This is simply how orthodox Christians have viewed Mormonism for well over a century. [If you want to know more, you will find a great article about this here: <https://carm.org/mormonism/is-mormonism-a-cult/>].

Another likely reason why Mr. CK was so able to consort with Mormons is because of their great love for Israel. Mormons believe Jewish people are God’s chosen people, descended from Abraham’s son Israel, and that a physical gathering of Jews to their promised land will occur during the Endtimes. The Mormon Church officially supports the modern state of Israel and views its creation as a fulfillment of prophecy. Surely, Mr. CK, as a judaising evangelical, would have identified with that.

In the next major section of this paper, I will disclose some revealing reasons why Mr. CK had no problem with having so many Mormons on his team, which is related to his ecumenical ecclesiology. I hope that I do not need to go into this any further at this point. If you, my readers, do not know that Mormonism is incompatible with genuine Christianity, then you cannot be familiar with the basics of our faith in Christ and His unique teachings.

Another of his religious affiliations of note is this:

2) His Love of Catholicism

Mr. CK, despite calling himself an “evangelical Christian”, was more or less a ‘crypto-Catholic’. His wife is a committed Catholic of longstanding and “a lot” of the members of his team are Catholics, on his own admission. From his own words, it seems that he was very attracted to Catholicism and from what I have read I think he could well have crossed over to it in the near future. Here is a report about him which appeared on a major Catholic website:

“Charlie was an Evangelical Protestant, but he was a sort of fellow-traveler of Catholicism: making common cause with Catholic thinkers and activists, often expressing admiration for the Church, engaging positively with Catholic ideas, and even sometimes seen attending Mass with his wife. When, last year, he visited the campus of San Diego State University, I sought him out, hoping to start a long-term dialogue with him about Catholicism.

“When I shook his hand and introduced myself as Edgar from ‘Catholic Answers’, immediately he responded with, ‘I love Catholics!’ and we chatted for a few minutes in which he expanded on his enthusiasm for Catholics and the Church. I handed him two of our books, Why We’re Catholic by Trent Horn and The Early Church was the Catholic Church by Joe Heschmeyer, along with my card. He received them with genuine interest and pleasure—a testament to his signature willingness to engage ideas and ways of thinking different from his own.

“We will never know what might have been, but after our meeting I was sure that the Lord was stirring something in his heart, moving him closer to the ancient Faith. He had befriended Bishop Robert Barron, and at the time of his death was planning to sit for an interview with him. In one of his own final videos, he spoke to the importance—contra his fellow Protestants—of honoring the Virgin Mary, and he offered her as an antidote to modern toxic feminism. The same openness and interest in seeking unity that distinguished him in political and social discourse made him an ecumenical bridge as well”. <https://www.catholic.com/magazine/blog/charlie-kirk-friend-to-catholics> . Evidence of his near conversion to Catholicism is here: <https://angelusnews.com/voices/kirk-conversion/> .

Indeed. Mr. CK was an ecumenical bridge and a furtherer of ecumenism, which is highly relevant to any truthful analysis of Mr. CK’s ecclesiology, as I will be developing in a later section of this paper. Here is a revealing quote from Mr. CK from a Catholic Facebook page:

“I love devout Catholics, so many in my life that I treasure. My wife baptized Catholic, my mom baptized Catholic and my grandmother was the greatest Catholic who ever lived. I have such GREAT RESPECT for really serious Catholics in so many different ways. My team has a lot of devout Catholics.” <https://www.facebook.com/photo?fbid=1245444980958549&set=a.569566458546408> .

On May 8th, 2025, Mr. CK posted a ‘tweet’ on “X” which you can see to the left. That ‘tweet’ deserves a number of questions. First, why would an “evangelical Christian” pray such a thing about a Pope? The Pope heads up a denomination which is corrupt and enmeshed in false teachings and has its headquarters in an enclave state which is the epitome of satanic world-system-style secular power rather than humble Bible spirituality. Second, the Bible does not teach that there will be a “Golden Age of Christianity”. On the contrary, it teaches that the world will increasingly despise the true church and will fall into utter apostasy culminating in the revealing of the Antichrist amidst a time of great tribulation, persecution and even the massacre of the saints (Matthew 24:21; 2 Thessalonians 2:1-3; Daniel 7:21-22; Revelation 11:7; 13:7). Third, the Pope is known as the “Vicar of Christ”, the exclusive representative in the place of Christ on earth. No such office exists and is completely made-up. Christ Himself is the Intermediary between human beings and God. There is no need for anyone else to get in the way. To call oneself the “Vicar of Christ” is a monstrous egocentric claim that has no biblical justification.

Regarding Mr. CK’s veneration of Mary, the Catholic magazine, “Crisis”, devoted a whole article to this, in which it was said: “There is a lot of evidence that Charlie Kirk was leading his family towards the Catholic Church; not least of all, his public call to venerate the Mother of God”. (see this link for details: <https://crisismagazine.com/opinion/charlie-kirk-and-his-surprising-sentiments-toward-the-catholic-church>).

It will help our understanding considerably if we realise that when we are dealing with the Vatican, we are not dealing merely with one of many manifestations of professing Christianity; we are dealing with syncretism, pure and simple. Everywhere it has gone in the world with its mission, Catholicism has compromised with indigenous heathen religions. The greater part of the religion of the Church of Rome is itself a blend of the ancient satanic religion of Babel, as well as other derivative forms of paganism disguised with the outward trappings of Christianity.

In the first few centuries AD, the city of Rome had become a syncretistic dustbin for every cult in the empire, and when the Emperor Constantine professed the Christian faith, many of these traditions were gathered into the Church of Rome which he founded. This pagan link is unashamedly admitted by Roman Catholic leaders themselves. For example, in spite of his omission of the fact that Mariolatry (the worship of Mary) is a derivative of pagan goddess worship, and that the Madonna and Child concept portrayed in Catholic art and sculpture has been lifted from a number of comparable ancient cults, Cardinal John Henry Newman unashamedly confirmed that:

“The use of temples...incense, lamps and candles...the tonsure...turning to the East...perhaps the ecclesiastical chant and the Kyrie Eleison, are all of pagan origin, and sanctified by their adoption in the Church” (John Henry Cardinal Newman, An Essay on the Development of Christian Doctrine, Penguin Books, 1974, p.369).

There are no doubt some genuine disciples (albeit compromised and undiscerning) somewhere within the Roman Catholic Church (who will hopefully come out when they see where it is all heading), but the false religion which the Vatican has been building for centuries, in common with other world religious powers, is not Bible-based Christianity, otherwise there would have been no need for the sixteenth century Reformation! With a little research, one can easily discover that the roots of Roman Catholicism owe far more to the cultic heritage of the pagan nations than to the teachings of the Holy Bible. Because the leaders of the mystical-occult world religions of today recognise this fact, they are only too happy to forge links with the Pope as the ‘Vice-Regent’ of the ‘Christianised’ version of ancient pagan mythology, in the belief that the various mythologies of all faiths can be demonstrated to be compatible with those of the false church, as a fitting preparation for the future dystopian political and religious climax of all time.

It only requires a modicum of knowledge to discern that the allegedly ‘infallible’ Popes, when acting ex cathedra, have given out a great many erroneous dogmas. Some of these dogmas centre on the person of Mary, the mother of Jesus, whom they claim to have been free from all original sin from conception (1854) — in spite of her own admission, recorded in the Bible, that she needed a Saviour (Luke 1:47) — and to have been “raised body and soul to the glory of heaven”, that is, resurrected just like the Lord Jesus, and assuming the position of ‘Queen of Heaven’ at the right hand of her Son (1950, 1965). As far as the Bible is concerned, the only ‘Queen of Heaven’ is that mentioned in the book of Jeremiah (Jeremiah 7:18; 44:15-30), which refers to the Babylonian goddess Ishtar, who assumed a variety of names throughout the Near East such as Astarte, Ashtoreth, Dea Syria, Venus, Aphrodite, etc. She was the goddess of sexual mysticism and was worshipped through sex-rites with temple prostitutes in a similar way to the sex-rites of the Far Eastern Tantric cult of Buddhism, from which the Lamaism of the Dalai Lama is partially derived.

Regarding this veneration of Mary which was so endorsed by Mr. CK, it is interesting to note that the renowned Gnostic psychologist and occultist, Carl Jung, said that “the most significant religious event since the Reformation was the Papal pronouncement in 1950 of the dogma of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin” (Vincent Brome, Jung, Paladin, 1978, p.254), on the basis that it represented the resurgence of the ‘feminine principle’ in religion which, according to many interfaithists, has been repressed by the Jehovah of Judeo-Christianity for far too long. This is why occultists and world religionists look to the Pope and papal power as something which they can get behind. It echoes their own corrupt spiritual aspirations.

Report: Charlie Kirk was 'this close' to becoming Catholic just prior to his death

catholicnewsagency.com

Many Protestants have also been seduced by this seductive veneration of Mary. For example, in one Anglican journal an article claims that “the Virgin Mary, full of grace, should be a focus of unity among Christians”, as well as being worthy of the worship and praise “due to His handmaid without whom the Word of God could not have been made flesh and dwelt among us” (Anglicans for Renewal, no.26, Summer/Autumn 1986, pp.13-14). Nowhere in the Bible is there the remotest notion that disciples of Jesus Christ should worship and praise His mother Mary, for that brings one under the sway of outright syncretism. She was simply a humble woman who was blessed by God to be the divinely-ordained bearer of the human body of the Messiah on earth. She takes her place alongside countless other biblical servants who were chosen by God to play a human role in sewing the tapestry of redemption.

In spite of its outward adherence to the name of Christ and the teachings of Christianity, the Church of Rome has provided more syncretists than any other denomination which professes to be Christian (for much more information on this, see the final 108-page chapter in the second edition of my upcoming book, “The Serpent & the Cross”, available at cost-price via my website, <https://www.diakrisis-project.com>). Indeed the Roman Catholic Church's entire mission hinges on a syncretistic pivot which is rooted in its Pelagian concept of salvation; and the persistent, fervent Roman Catholic involvement in numerous interfaith gatherings surely lends much support to this notion.

When the Pope attended the significant watershed interfaith gathering at Assisi in 1986, there was one lone voice which protested on that syncretic occasion. A Roman Catholic follower of the traditionalist Archbishop Marcel Lefèbre braved the inevitable accusation of 'being negative' by handing out leaflets in the main square, telling reporters that "the Pope is trying to make a super-religion with himself at the head" (The Independent, October 20th, 1986, p.1). This was an astute observation and a courageous one too, because one takes one's life in one's hands if one goes up against a big establishment organisation like the Vatican, as much as if it was a branch of the mafia. For that is where Roman Catholicism is leading: The creation of a kind of super-religion with the Pope at its head. Alongside the formation of a global government under the aegis of the New World Order, there will also be some kind of global religious confederation — the two beasts of Revelation 13 in eschatological action.

Well, I could have said much more, but suffice it to say that Mr. CK's love of Catholics and Catholicism is all part of his entirely misplaced ecumenism, which not only made his bridge towards Mormons possible but also towards the Vatican and, next, Jewishness and Israel.

3) His Love of Israel and Judaism

It may come as a surprise to some but Mr. CK kept the Jewish Sabbath. Not a Sunday Sabbath but a Saturday one. I have written about the subject of the Sabbath many times but suffice it to say that Christ is our Sabbath, not a day of the week. He fulfilled the Sabbath. But Mr. CK's keeping of the Jewish Sabbath is indicative of his support for and attraction to Israel and Judaism. It was a regular feature in his podcast and was recognised as such by Israeli media:

"Charlie Kirk never sat on the fence about Israel. His views were public, repeated over time, and tied directly to his Christian beliefs. As he wrote in a post that made the rounds: "Israel changed my life. Strengthened my faith, made the Bible pop into reality, and gave me the most precious memories with Erika". It wasn't a throwaway line on a podcast. It was central to how he explained his faith and his bond with Israel" (see <https://blogs.timesofisrael.com/charlie-kirk-and-israel-the-record-his-critics-cant-rewrite/>).

Recently, there have been some people who claimed that Mr. CK was “turning against Israel”. That was not true. The truth is that he became frustrated when he received so many enquiries about what he thought about what is happening in Gaza. Then he apparently consulted with a Jewish Rabbi friend on how best to respond to these people (See <https://www.theweek.in/news/world/2025/09/13/what-did-charlie-kirk-tell-his-rabbi-friend-pesach-wolicki-hours-before-his-death-influencer-was-excited-and-combative.html>). The Times of Israel also referenced this and spoke of it as his frustration rather than disillusionment:

“Critics such as Candace Owens have latched onto Kirk’s stray remarks about Liberal Jewish donors or his sense of being muzzled when speaking about Israeli officials. The soundbites bounced around online, painted as proof he had gone cold on Israel. And I’ll tell you why that charge falls flat. For starters, those comments had a narrow aim. He was not questioning Israel’s existence, its right to defend itself, or its place in American foreign policy. His point was about cultural double standards in how political speech is received. Second, when you stack it all up, his praise for Israel dwarfs the rare flashes of frustration! Out of 100s of hours of content, only a handful of clips raise concerns, while dozens highlight his admiration [for Israel] without hesitation!” (see <https://blogs.timesofisrael.com/charlie-kirk-and-israel-the-record-his-critics-cant-rewrite/>).

Like most judaising, Israel-loving evangelicals, Mr. CK’s political notions about Israel would be guided by his belief that the fulfilment of the ‘Seven Mountain Mandate’ (which I will explain further below) would usher in the second coming of Christ preceded by the salvation of the Jews having returned to their ‘homeland’. As the Times of Israel put it:

“It is doubtful that [Kirk’s] devotion to Israel stemmed from genuine solidarity with Jewish history and Zionist ideology, which sought to find a safe haven for the Jewish people. More likely, it was rooted in his evangelical belief that the return of Jews to the Land of Israel is a step toward a messianic end-times prophecy”. (see <https://blogs.timesofisrael.com/the-wrong-kind-of-friend-rethinking-charlie-kirks-support-for-israel/>).

Big Jewish money backed Turning Point USA. Two of the biggest financiers of Mr. CK’s ‘Turning Point’ organisation were Bernard Marcus, ‘Home Depot’ founder and major friend of Israel, while Isaac Perlmutter, billionaire Israeli-American philanthropist, also provided funds. But one of the biggest funders of all was Right wing Zionist David Horowitz. In a tweet on “X” on April 29th, 2025, Mr. CK wrote:

“Without David Horowitz, I’m not sure Turning Point USA would exist... Over 90% of our earliest major donors were introduced at a David Horowitz event—thanks to his warm endorsements and generous introductions. His support opened doors that would have otherwise remained closed”.

Charlie Kirk and Turning Point USA

Mr. CK attending a Young Jewish Conservatives/TPUSA Shabbat do, yarmulke and all, in 2018. He’s been at this for a long time.

... One cannot really make sense of Mr CK’s politics and activities unless one realises that he was bankrolled by Right wing Jewish money. They just love to finance conservative Christian pro-Israel outfits. This isn’t an ‘antisemitic trope’, as some would claim. It is simply the unblemished truth. If you do not believe me, look into it for yourself. One of the reasons that the Right wing, ‘Dominionist’, so-called ‘Seven Mountain Mandate’ folks such as Mr. CK (these terms will be explained further below) are so into Israel and the Jews is that they believe that these two elements will play a major role in the Endtimes which they believe that they are ushering in with their ‘Dominionism’. They actually believe that when all government has been secured by them and their type, Christ will return. The myth is that all Jews, especially Israelis, will be saved prior to Christ’s return based on Romans 11:26, “And so all Israel will be saved”. But this interpretation is a chimera out of the world of the Schofield Bible. The reality is this:

“At the end of the age, when all the elect Gentiles have been saved, all Israel WILL indeed have been saved, because “all Israel” here means all the remnants together, all elect Jews from the beginning to the end of time. Thus, God has not cast away His people whom He foreknew. Regardless of any confusion about Israel now, the end of the age will show that ALL Israel, that is all elect Jews, all those who are Jews inwardly (for they are the REAL Israel, Romans 2:29) will indeed have been saved! Many have stumbled into a false understanding of the words “all Israel” in Romans 11:26, because they read the phrase as “Then all Israel will be saved”. Whereas the text says, “And so”. The Greek word translated as “so” here is οὕτως, houtós, which means “thus” or “in this manner”. Paul is saying, “and it is in this manner that all Israel will be saved”. Which manner? How will all Israel be saved? In the manner in which Paul has been demonstrating throughout the three chapters of Romans 9 – 11, namely, through the process of the Divine election of a ‘remnant’ — all the remnants throughout the age adding up in total to the “all” of Israel which will be saved” (Extracted from my free book about Israel and the Church, available here: <https://diakrisis-project.com/2022/12/06/new-entirely-updated-120-page-ebook-abraham-our-father-jerusalem-our-mother/>).

So that is a little taste of the third of Mr. CK’s loves. Israel and Judaism, and all because of a wonky eschatological and ideological viewpoint. A red flag indeed. Next comes...

4) His Love of Donald Trump

Mr. CK was a long-time family friend of Trump, and his father, Robert W. Kirk, is an architect who was apparently involved in the construction of Trump Tower in Manhattan (1984). Mr. CK regularly played golf with Trump and was instrumental in getting Trump into office, as I will show in a later section. The question is this: How can one take seriously a man who is that close to someone of the likes of Donald Trump, a liar, a man of lewd words, a philanderer, and so childishly vengeful, and want to put him into an office of public service? There is actually a lengthy article on Wikipedia entitled “Donald Trump sexual misconduct allegations”, which you can find at this link here: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Donald_Trump_sexual_misconduct_allegations. Even if you think they are all false allegations, when there are so many of them (even covered up with hush money), there is rarely any smoke without an associated fire.

The amazing thing is that it is common knowledge that Trump is a liar, lewd commenter and sexual philanderer but he is never answerable for it because he has the Midas touch, in the sense that he is protected, like a mafia boss with connections. This is known in the trade as “the Teflon Effect” — nothing sticks on him. On 17th September 2025, Channel 4 in the UK put out a 2.5 hour investigative documentary entitled “Trump vs the Truth”, in which over 100 of President Trump’s false claims (a.k.a. lies) were debunked. But nothing comes of it. And people like Mr. CK happily have such a man as a friend and golfing companion and even help into high office of the land. What does that tell you. Think deeply about it. Another major red flag.

II. HOW THE RELIGION AND AIMS OF MR. CK FIT INTO THE APOSTASY AWAY FROM THE SIMPLE GOSPEL

As disciples of Christ, our place is not to pledge our total allegiance to anyone who calls themselves a “Christian”, or who utters the name of Jesus, or even who claims to love Jesus, for not only would that be idolatry but those three things, without accompanying corroborative actions, are not necessarily cast-iron identifiers of a genuine disciple of Christ. Neither is it our place to jump on any bandwagon that crosses our path which seems to be in some way associated with something called “Christianity”. It doesn’t work like that. We are called to be discerning, to be as wise as serpents, and to utterly avoid being silly “little babies who are tossed about by the waves and carried around by every wind of teaching and by the clever cunning of men in their deceitful scheming” (Ephesians 4:14). This is what is expected of us in the Christian life.

For example, how would you, as a genuine disciple of Christ, respond if a couple of clean-cut, smart-looking guys in formal attire appear at your door saying these words:

“Hello, we are missionaries for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, can we come in and share a message about our Savior, Jesus Christ? We’d love to share a message of hope with you, for God loves you and He has sent Jesus to bring us back to Him. The early church was mightily on fire for Jesus but apostasy has wrecked all that through the centuries. We want to restore what they had”.

Would you think, “Well that sounds reasonable” and invite them in for a cuppa? After all, you believe all that too! Well, it seems that many would invite them in, due to the superficial similarity of words and sentiments shared. But we have already seen how Mormonism is a cult despite whatever words they may say on your doorstep. This is why it is vital to go beyond how things appear outwardly. We are not to make judgements superficially according to what we see with our eyes or hear with our ears but we are to “make just judgements” (John 7:24), for which we have to look at more than what is outwardly presented to us.

Every time I have watched Mr. CK at work, I do not see a wise spiritual man of depth and humility. Instead, I see an upbeat smart-Alec know-it-all without love or empathy who deals in winning intellectual arguments in the realm of words. That is what has made him popular. Because so many Right wing types are impressed by someone who can swaggeringly put down ‘lefties’ and ‘wokies’, they adulate a man like that, imagining him to be the pinnacle of Christianity in action. But nothing could be further from the truth. So many thrive on watching that kind of adversarial combat. Yet I just see someone brash, assertive, cocky even, who has got well-genned-up on certain subjects so that they can always verbally overpower anyone who challenges them. That is not the spiritual way. A spiritual person is not in the business of scoring points or overpowering people with head-knowledge but of stirring souls through wise intuitive insight so that they discover truths at a level considerably more profound than a mere intellectual one. But in these conservative, Right wing circles it is all surface stuff in the realm of the intellectual which does not cut to the core. People are being seduced by superficial dealings which have a political aim, as I will show below.

So many seem to think that “Turning Point” is a biblical organisation of evangelism about Christ. It is an organisation of evangelism alright but not about Christ so much as about Right wing politics. That is its focus. That is what the mission of ‘Turning Point USA’ is all about, which is blatantly obvious. As a Sky News report accurately said under the heading, “What is Turning Point USA - and what does it stand for?”:

“Turning Point (TPUSA) is often described as one of the biggest youth movements in the US. It was set up as a non-profit organisation in the wake of Barack Obama’s re-election to educate more young people about conservative politics and encourage others to spread the word. It recruits ‘field representatives’ at universities and high schools in all 50 states to create forums for right-wing discussions on the economy, race, religion, and other issues. TPUSA claims to be ‘effectively reshaping the culture on college campuses’ and says its members are ‘encouraged to be leaders in their communities and educate others on American ideals’. It describes its high school sub-section as a ‘mobilisation of America’s most spirited anti-woke warriors’ and a ‘new generation of pro-America patriots’... The Charlie Kirk Show was hosted by Charlie himself and focuses largely on right-wing politics” (<https://news.sky.com/story/what-is-> turning-point-usa-the-maga-movement-founded-by-charlie-kirk-13428550). [emphasis added]

As you can see from the emboldened text, there is nothing about Christian evangelism but everything about pro-America, Right wing politics. JD Vance calls Charlie Kirk “The smartest political operative I ever met”. (Please see this link: <https://ca.news.yahoo.com/jd-vance-calls-charlie-kirk-162623993.html>).

Exactly. That is what these people are, first and foremost: Political operatives. But not just political operatives. They are hiding their operations behind the name of Jesus. All the Jesus talk is just a front for their political operations. Their Jesus is all about taking over the world — one which Trump and Vance think should be a ‘Dominionist’ one, hegemonically enforced through draconian mass-surveillance, digital IDs, and the administration of Artificial Intelligence and Transhumanist technology, all of which will make Orwell’s “1984” seem like a Boy Scouts’ Tea Party. I use the word ‘Dominionist’ to refer to someone who adheres to Dominion Theology, or Christian Reconstructionism, as it is also known. Dominion theology (or ‘Dominionism’) is a far-right Christian political ideology asserting that Christians are divinely called to take control of political and cultural institutions to establish a society governed by biblical law — a Judeo-Christian version of Shariah law. Essentially, it seeks to Christianise the whole world so as to precipitate the return of the Lord Jesus Christ. It is based particularly on the Scriptures, Genesis 1:28: “Be fruitful and multiply, and fill the earth and subdue it”, and also Luke 19:13 where the Lord Jesus tells the Parable of the Ten Minas in which “a man of noble birth” “called ten of his servants and gave them ten minas. ‘Conduct business with this until I return, he said’”. The ‘Dominionists’ and Reconstructionists seize on a weird translation from the King James Version, “Occupy till I return”, and then claim this means that we should take over everything in the world, like a kind of military political occupation. [This is what happens when you make an idol out of the KJV (or any version), as a number of deluded diehards still do today]. Mr. CK also quoted those mistranslated words, “Occupy till I return”, in order to justify his religious and political agenda (see at 12 minutes and 2 seconds in this video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=9ZKMOCYc3ZY&t=15s>). But the Greek word dubiously translated in the KJV as “occupy” is πραγματεύομαι, pragmateuomai, which means to busy oneself or to do business — literally, to be pragmatic, to do what is the expedient thing to do. In other words, according to the context of the parable, “use rightly what you have been given to use” or, as ‘Helps Word Studies’ puts it “manage profitably the capital at your disposal”. That perfectly expresses what this parable is all about. Thus, this text is about ensuring that you use your God-given talents, abilities and opportunities for evangelism to their fullness while you are in this world.

This has nothing whatsoever to do with seizing occupation of worldly institutions and running the world like a secular boss! Yet, that mistranslation is seized on by the ‘Dominionist’ people as central to their battle strategy. This is why Mr. CK has no problem advocating martial law military occupation in US cities, as he did on his show on 11th August 2025 (see image, left). “We got to go in hard. We gotta go big league. We’re talking National Guard, tanks — every street, you need military”. [See “The Independent” newspaper link here:

<https://www.independent.co.uk/news/world/americas/us-politics/charlie-kirk-trump-military-occupation-b2805750.html>]. This is “Dominionism” in action; and it soon turns into a “God-controlled fascist dictatorship”. This is where it all leads. Always. And this is where the Trump/Vance regime is heading if it manages to enact its wishes, which the power-elite will enable.

However, in God’s wisdom, the power of God is not demonstrated by us taking over the world and ‘Christianising’ it but by us plundering Satan’s pretended kingdom by stealing souls right out from under his nose, and there is not a single thing that he can do about it! Thus, Dominion Theology inevitably makes believers less like Christ, it exalts the power of the civil state above its God-given status, and it paints a false picture of both church history and the time of the end. In short, it is a damnable heresy. [See my article about this subject, entitled “Backward Christian Soldiers: The Spiritual and Historical Regression of Dominion Theology”, which is freely available at this link: <https://diakrisis-project.com/2024/01/20/backward-christian-soldiers-the-spiritual-and-historical-regression-of-dominion-theology/>].

The entire push of the Trump regime is consciously ‘Dominionist’. Mr. CK’s ‘ministry’ has never really been about humbly bringing God’s people into the body of Christ but about winning voters for Trump as a foot soldier of ‘Dominionism’ and the ‘Seven Mountain Mandate’. Sure, he spoke about Christ during his work but then so do the Mormons on your doorstep. The Mormons do it to get you into their cult. Mr. CK did it to get you into his. You may ask, “What cult is that?” It’s the cult of ‘Christian Nationalism’; the cult of the ‘Christian Right’; the cult of ‘Dominionism’; the cult of hard-faced Right wing politics with no heart or empathy in it whatsoever; the cult of the ‘Seven Mountain Mandate’. Now, you may ask, what is the ‘Seven Mountain Mandate’? Most Christians who do not move in those circles have likely never heard of it, so it needs explanation. As the Wikipedia article puts it:

“The Seven Mountain Mandate is a dominionist conservative Christian ideology within evangelical Christianity, particularly independent Charismatic groups. It holds that there are seven aspects of society that believers seek to dominate: Family, religion, education, media, arts and entertainment, business, and government”.

(https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Seven_Mountain_Mandate . Check out that whole little article for a basic description, in which Mr. CK is shown to be a “prominent follower” near the bottom of it. Trump’s heretical ‘spiritual adviser, Paula White, is also on that list of “prominent followers”).

But this movement is not at all biblical because, in the words of a cogent critique of the ‘Seven Mountain Mandate’ and also of ‘Dominion theology’ in general:

“The Seven Mountain Mandate distorts the gospel by promoting cultural takeover rather than faithful gospel witness and discipleship. The Bible calls Christians to live as ambassadors for Christ, not as cultural conquerors. Why is dominion theology dangerous? Dominion theology shifts the focus from Christ’s finished work and the mission of the Church to earthly power and influence. It can lead to theological compromise, political idolatry, and a redefinition of biblical mission” (see <https://servantsofgrace.org/seven-mountain-mandate-gospel-response/> . Diligent students should read that whole page as it is simple and very informative).

The Left wing has its political pseudo-version of Christianity. It’s called “Liberation Theology”. The Right wing has its political pseudo-version of Christianity. It is called the “Seven Mountain Mandate” movement. I call it “Golden Age Dominionism”. And this ‘Seven Mountain Mandate’ and ‘Golden Age Dominionism’ was Mr. CK’s version of Christianity too. Both ‘Liberation Theology’ and the ‘Seven Mountain Mandate’ are loveless and devoid of true agapé. Their real motivation is political rather than spiritual. They get their “seven mountains” from Revelation 17:9, which speaks of “the seven mountains on which the woman sits” — a reference to the “mother of harlots”, spiritual Babylon. The idea is that those seven mountains need to be “retaken” by Christians and put under God’s control through them.

However, we operate as Christ's in the midst of a fallen world which is still permitted to be under the power of Satan (1 John 5:19), despite the fact that the war has already been won by Christ (John 12:31), and because of that we will be hated by the world (John 15:19; Matthew 10:22) and treated as its scum and offscouring (1 Corinthians 4:13) rather than taking it over, which is just a wholly misplaced 'bigshot' idea and about as far removed from the Gospel as one can get. It is Christ who will 'clean up' when He returns.

Those who try to enforce the 'Seven Mountain Mandate' preach a different Jesus to the One in the Bible. For the Jesus of the Bible gave us a great commission to preach the Gospel of His life, atoning death, and resurrection to the peoples of the world, not to take over the world's institutions like a bulldozer on steroids.

However, this is precisely what has happened in the USA with the Trump bandwagon which Mr. CK — as an enabler for the power-elite, wittingly or unwittingly — has massively helped to put into office. But many professing Christians are deceived because Trump, Mr. CK and all their associates use "God-talk" and speak in quasi-Christian NewSpeak. This kind of superficial similarity of interests and expressions is how Donald Trump has been able to fool so many professing Christians and people with some kind of moral code into voting for him and into hero-worshipping Mr. CK. Just like the Mormons do on the doorstep which I quoted above, Trump speaks in language familiar to these professing Christians, but behind all that are some very different sentiments, aims and objectives which undo all the 'God-talk' and 'Jesus-talk'.

As a Trump clone, it is the same with Mr. CK. He spoke the same language as many professing Christians, and seemed to oppose the same 'woke' baloney as them (plus he has a family which looks like something out of a potential president's portfolio), but his real agenda is to recruit people into the Trumpian cause, to make them MAGA people and to be voting fodder for that regime, as has been widely reported:

"Charlie Kirk and his wider movement have been credited with the surge in Gen Z voters who helped re-elect Donald Trump as president last year (2024). In his tribute [to TPUSA] on Truth Social, Mr Trump said they had 'brought young people into the political process... better than anybody ever' [emphasis added] (<https://news.sky.com/story/what-is-turning-point-usa-the-maga-movement-founded-by-charlie-kirk-13428550>).

That is what it has all been about: Recruiting young people into the MAGA machine. As another article said of him: "A former official in Trump's first administration, said that Kirk's influence was key early on in Trump's first term, and that TPUSA 'was the main recruitment vehicle for younger people'" (<https://www.bbc.co.uk/news/articles/c33r4kjez6no>). Again: "Jared Kushner - the president's son-in-law - wrote on X that he 'played a significant role in helping President Trump's 2016 campaign, building and fostering the Maga movement'" (Ibid.) Not only that but,

"[Charlie] Kirk poured millions of TPUSA dollars and thousands of volunteers into get-out-the-vote efforts in swing states during last year's election, and his strategy appears to have worked. The organisation's 'ground game' was crucial, analysts say, helping make up for the formal Trump campaign's struggles reaching infrequent voters, or those untouched by traditional outreach" (Ibid.)

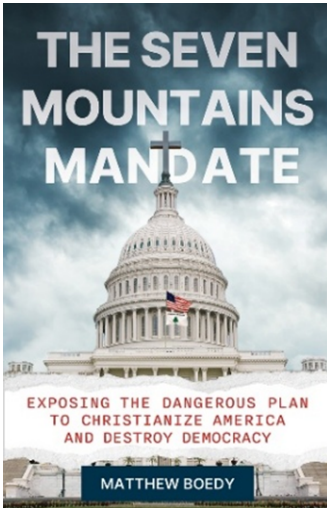

This guy, Mr. CK, was really a MAGA politician with enormous influence in youth recruitment, in government machinations, and even vetting government staff for suitability in office:

"Kirk's influence arguably grew even more during Trump's second term. Just two days before Trump took office, the pair played golf together in Mar-a-Lago. His relationships with Trump and the rest of the family even gave him sway over government posts — Kirk was reportedly involved in vetting administration appointees earlier this year. In his tribute, Vance wrote: 'He didn't just help us win in 2024, he helped us staff the entire government'" (Ibid.).

All the above is not evidence of a ministry of Christian evangelism, which is what so many think that TPUSA is all about. As well as being an influential force in government, Turning Point is essentially a MAGA political recruitment agency to draw in young people. Despotic regimes will always target the youth as they are very naïve and easily fooled as well as being extremely zealous — the perfect fodder for those regimes. Hitler did it with much success with the Youth Movement in Germany from 1936-1945 (known as the Hitlerjugend). MAGA has a dictatorial agenda which has barely shown its face to the world yet, but it is coming. The truth — which so many professing Christians want to deny — is that Mr. CK was a master-politician masquerading as an evangelist on a very superficial level.

Bear in mind that Mr. CK was not some recent Christian convert but claimed that he had been one since a child. He should have known what biblical teaching is supposed to be about. But he was all over the place in many major ways. And we are not talking about a few silly little peccadillos here and there but major blindnesses over cultists, religionists and corrupt politicians. You see, to a ‘Dominionist’ with their typical agenda, winning souls for the ‘Dominionist’ cause is the name of the game. And that cause is taking over government as per the ‘Seven Mountain Mandate’. And if you say to me, “But wasn’t he a member of a nice orthodox Calvary Chapel?” I reply, the reality is that “nice Calvary Chapel”, which sounds so cosy, is a megachurch of which the pastor (Mr CK’s pastor) is Rob McCoy, himself a ‘Dominionist’ and preacher of the ‘Seven Mountain Mandate’.

It was McCoy who first introduced Mr. CK to the whole ‘Seven Mountain Mandate’ movement way back in 2019. [For evidence of this, see the list, “Key Dates in the Development of the Seven Mountains Mandate Movement” on page 5 of the pre-publication sample of what will no doubt prove to be an excellent little book on the subject. The book is: Matthew Boedy, “The Seven Mountains Mandate: Exposing the Dangerous Plan to Christianize America and Destroy Democracy”, Westminster John Knox Press, 2025. The book itself will be published at the end of September 2025 (see image of cover, left), but the pre-publication sample is available freely here as a PDF and it mentions Mr. CK copiously throughout:

https://www.wjkbooks.com/wp-content/uploads/productsamples/The-Seven-Mountains-Mandate_excerpt-WJK.pdf . Check Amazon too].

This hidden ‘Seven Mountain Mandate’ agenda is why Mr. CK’s “team” at TPUSA could, on his own admission, consist of at least “half Mormons” and “a lot” of Catholics. The reason why Mr. CK could have all these alliances with Catholicism and Mormonism and even openly speak of ‘loving them’ and having no problem with them (in spite of their cultish/false religion status) is because the politico-religious structure which he supports — which, by the way, intends to ‘Christianise’ the world and create a global, digital, mass-surveillance A.I., Transhumanist hegemonic society based loosely on 'Christian' morality and anti-'woke' anti-leftism ruthlessly enforced by the state — is globalist and inclusively ecumenist in its outlook. It has wilfully rejected the Bible's own witness that this world is building up to terrible apostasy, global deception, false religion, and unprecedented evil (exactly as it was in the evil days of Noah, Matthew 24:37), and instead teaches that the world is going to be 'won for Christ' and enter a "golden age" through the governmental enforcement of "faith" and morality. Thus, in the MAGA world of the likes of Mr. CK, it doesn't matter if someone is a real disciple of Christ — someone who has been "born from above" and adheres to the truth — or not. The only thing which matters to them is that they are all MAGA supporters and Trumpites, and 'Seven Mountain Mandate' 'Dominionists' who are supposedly "winning the world for Christ" (dominionist-speak for expanding their political empire). That was Mr. CK's real religion.

A real disciple of Christ could not work alongside Mormons and Catholics in a genuinely spiritual crusade. That is ecumenism gone mad! Interfaithism, actually. For Mormonism is a cult which places its teachings from Joseph Smith's wacky revelations above the Bible, while the Catholic Church is ruled over by a Vatican State which is corrupt to the core and has hegemonic global religious intentions alongside the formation of the New World Order's one-world government. But so long as they are pro-MAGA and pro-Trump and pro everything that Trump stands for, then anything else is okay and it matters not a jot what sect or cult you are in so long as you speak about Jesus as Lord and Saviour, the mere words of which proves nothing.

You see, someone with a political crusade can work with anyone who supports that crusade, no matter what their religious affiliations. It is known as an "unholy alliance", when unscrupulous people of completely divergent views work together for a common dastardly cause, like Hitler and Stalin in the 'Molotov-Ribbentrop Pact' in 1939, or Herod and Pontius Pilate on the day of Jesus' trial (Luke 23:12). Yet so many people calling themselves "Christians" have no problem with this and treat Mr. CK as if he was some kind of heroic demi-god! Even after reading all the pages of material which I have produced here (if they bother to read them through at all), most if not all of them will claim that I am "nit-picking" or being "negative" or "unfair" or "taking things out of context". This is how hyper-deceptive the times are in which we are living. The whole sphere to which Mr. CK belonged is not the body of Christ but the 'body-politic'.

Are you beginning to see the truth of all this now? This is why I say that organisations like TPUSA have no understanding of the 'Antithesis' — the biblical line that is drawn between the people of God and those under the power of Satan, as delineated in Genesis 3:15 (which I will be developing in the next major section of this paper). Even if someone is in a cult or mesmerised by the corrupt power of the Vatican (and thereby under the power of Satan), they are deemed acceptable so long as they support the ‘Seven Mountain Mandate’ and Trump as the chosen vessel to usher in their “Golden Age”.

These Right wing US ‘Dominionists’ generally seem to fit into a type. The men are always hard, harsh, abrasive, and lacking in the heart of love, agapé. Even if they claim to have it, their actions usually speak otherwise. They also despise the very idea of empathy, often slating it as ‘new age’ ‘Left wing’ ‘bleeding-heart’ sentimentality. This is despite the fact that empathy is a vital part of Christian character (see my article on this subject here: <https://diakrisis-project.com/2025/09/11/is-empathy-a-necessary-part-of-the-christian-character/>). In fact, Mr. CK said, during an Oct. 12, 2022, episode of “The Charlie Kirk Show”: “I can’t stand the word empathy, actually. I think empathy is a made-up, new age term that — it does a lot of damage. But it is very effective when it comes to politics. Sympathy, I prefer more than empathy” (see <https://www.youtube.com/shorts/vojXvj2B6RI>). Similarly, I saw some words from someone trying to defend him, saying: “No-one can have empathy unless they have experienced exactly the same as another person. What you have is sympathy for another person in what they are going through”. This is just splitting hairs. It is ridiculous to say that one can only have empathy if one has experienced exactly the same as another person. The whole idea of empathy is that it is an intuitive experience of great depth by which one can wholly identify with the suffering of another and so understand it completely because one is ‘tuned-in’ to other people in a vicarious manner. Mere sympathy is disengaged, whereas empathy is vibrantly identificatory — as if one can actually walk in the shoes of another through the sacred use of the imagination and thereby develop compassion. Empathy is warmly spiritual (“I feel your pain”), whereas sympathy is coolly emotional (“My sympathies to you”). For someone to say it is a “made-up new age term” shows extreme ignorance and also how cut off they are from any real feelings and the kind of intuitive processes which are necessary if one is going to function well emotionally and spiritually as a genuine disciple of Christ.

Now, after that little diversion about empathy, to continue showing how these Right wing US ‘Dominionists’ generally seem to fit into a type: They are very adept at making smart-assed quips and at rabble-rousing crowds in true demagogue fashion, but there is a spiritual heart of love which is missing. A sensitive soul can easily discern all that from the whole Trump crowd of MAGA zealots. But zeal without wisdom and love always eventually morphs into fanaticism, extremism, and ultimately fascism. Also, have you noticed that they are all multimillionaires or even billionaires? Well I have no desire to be preached at with a different Jesus by such crass, uncultured wealth-amassing hypocrites.

What's more, their women all seem to have come out of a clone factory, with their cheap faux-blondish bimbo looks and puffed-up lips, with enough makeup to plaster a whole wall or to join a clown act in the circus — what is amusingly now known as the “Mar-a-Lago Look” — and the long false painted nails, plus lots of bling and plenty of ‘work’ done. They may look good for a photo-op with Fox News while taking in the average mind that has been brainwashed with “Celeb-ism”. But the lack of a deep spirituality and core of wisdom is overwhelming.

These are supposed to be spiritual Christian women, yet they make themselves look like cheap harlots going out on the town clubbing. Can you imagine women in Jesus’ circle spending an hour plastering themselves in makeup and bling like that? Women like Mary and Martha, for example. It is unthinkable. Or Mary Magdalene. Well, she used to be a harlot so she probably did do the whole painted woman bit previous to her extraordinary encounter with Christ. But afterwards? No way. Not only would it be an unspiritual thing to do but how could anyone take the professed faith seriously of a hideously painted woman. Prior to her life-changing encounter with Jesus, Mary Magdalene likely used to get all ‘dolled-up’ in the typical middle-Eastern manner with the eyes beguilingly made-up and lots of cheap bangles. But once she was a disciple of His, financing the ministry and so on, she would have dressed demurely with a natural face. For a woman to be genuinely spiritual means being natural and real, not phoney and plastered with paint like a cheap whore.

Imagine being married to one of them. You would not recognise the person you woke up next to in the morning once all that goo had worn off. The use of a little makeup for accentuation is okay, but to go for the harlot look with all the mascara, eye shadow, caked-on foundation cream, lipstick and gloss, lip-filler and other ‘work’ is utterly fake and unbecoming for someone who claims to be spiritual and ‘traditional’ (or a so-called “trad-wife”). I am not the only one to notice these weird facial additions on Right wing women — including the professing Christian ones as they can be even worse. (See, for example, <https://www.motherjones.com/politics/2025/03/maralago-face-conservative-girl-makeup-brutal-aesthetics-of-maga-trump-gaetz-guilfoyle/> .

People generally today — especially in so many churches — seem to have no conception of what a spiritual ‘vibe’ feels like: Reverent, devout, gently but firmly didactic, humble, patient, wise, inwardly strong, longsuffering, compassionate, empathic — the very opposite of everything that the MAGA brigade stands for. They present themselves as Christian activists who do something for the Lord. But they are impostors of the worst kind with a different gospel altogether.

All this Christian Nationalist, ‘Dominionist’, ‘Golden Age’ stuff is similar to the ‘Moral Rearmament’ cult of the 1930s onward in the UK, whose leader, Rev. Frank Buchman, said:

“Spain has taught us what godless Communism will bring. Human problems aren’t economic. They’re moral, and they can’t be solved by immoral measures. They could be solved within a God-controlled democracy, or perhaps I should say a theocracy, and they could be solved through a God-controlled Fascist dictatorship” (<https://time.com/archive/6891643/religion-god-controlled-dictatorship/>).

It is precisely this which is gradually being installed in the USA: A ‘Dominionist’ “God-controlled Fascist Dictatorship”, although obviously without the approval of the one true God. And the shooting of Mr. CK will be used to further that installation and agenda. This is what ‘Dominionism’ does. It installs an Old Covenant theocracy in the era of the New Covenant. What the shooting of Mr. CK has done (and it has all resulted in a super-clever psyop) is to get vast millions (who, before the shooting, would never have even dreamed of saying it) to say, “We are all Charlie Kirk Now” (the latest wacky trend), even wearing the T-shirt (which is now also in TPUSA’s tacky merchandise, which even has a T-shirt showing a Marxist-style clenched fist and the belligerent words “Fight! Fight! Fight!” on it), and ipso facto thereby giving tacit support to the installation of the burgeoning (allegedly ‘God-controlled’) fascist dictatorship in the USA.

All this reminds me enormously of the January 2015 attack on the French satirical magazine, “Charlie Hebdo”, which resulted in eleven staff there being killed, and subsequently played out as a vast psyop in which masses of people worldwide said, “Je Suis Charlie” (“I Am Charlie”) and held up a sign to prove it (see image, below). At the time, in an article I wrote about this debacle, I noted that the word “Charlie” in English is a synonym for fool, as in the saying, “He’s a right Charlie”. So all those people holding up signs saying “Je suis Charlie” were really saying, “Je suis un fool”.

Recruitment to the MAGA cause has rocketed in the days since the event! Apparently, since the shooting, Turning Point USA (TPUSA) has so far received well over 60,000 enquiries from people wanting to start new campus chapters. Sad to say, but Mr. CK seems to be worth, to the US government, considerably more dead than alive. At this point, you may ask “Are you saying that he was taken out by the government?” No, I am not saying that because I cannot know that for sure, and I do not hang my hat on mere speculations. It is certainly possible, in view of the unscrupulous types who enter clandestine government operations or work for intelligence agencies, and his death has been very advantageous to them. But I did find it strange that a man of his multimillionaire means must have hired a top-notch security team made up of crack ex-military types yet none of them saw the amateur crouched figure on a rooftop which someone even photographed. Could they have been primed to stand down? Just a question based on what actually happened. Some of them will have been assigned to scan the crowd. Others would normally have been scanning the rooftops or any other potential sniper-nests. But they didn’t. Why not? They also did not call 9/11 but bundled him unceremoniously into a black SUV. And why was there no first-aid response team available at a 3,000-crowd outdoor event? I have many other questions too. The treatment of the corpse — e.g., being transported in Airforce 2 and being treated as if he were a leading political figure such as a president or vice-president. Why were there no relatives (e.g. parents) or friends giving eulogies at the memorial service but just a bunch of MAGA/Seven Mountain Mandate bigshots? The lionisation of Mr. CK subsequent to the shooting is bizarre, to say the least: Comparing him to the Apostle Paul, mass so-called “revivals” allegedly breaking out (which are pure emotionalism), candlelit vigils everywhere, etc. People are so easy to programme and all this ‘atrociousness’ makes people insecure and over-emotional (and thus very easy to gaslight and exploit because of the resulting ‘mass psychogenic illness’). I will leave that there. But it all does leave giant question marks.

Frankly, I have never liked Mr. CK’s approach to “debates”. He has that typical Right wing brashness and smug “I’m-always-right”-ness, pushing the agenda along with interjections and clapping his hands to steer the crowd towards the desired end, like a slick motivational speaker. If anyone brings up something which does not suit the narrative that Mr. CK wants to pursue, he would quickly lose patience. I saw a video in which the very impatient Mr. CK deals with a boy who quotes the Jewish Talmud to show how nasty some of its teachings really are. Clearly the lad had his own agenda and wanted to test Mr. CK because of his well-known pro-Israel and pro-Jewish stance. But instead of approaching the matter with wisdom, composure and honesty, Mr. CK interrupted the boy impatiently and proceeded to put him down because of his inferior knowledge about which version of the Talmud he was quoting from. He conveniently sidestepped the quoted parts of the Talmud which are pretty damning and merely said that we have to bless the Jews.

This is why I deny that Mr. CK was a debater. He was not that. He used what he knew would be comparatively ignorant people (naïve students) to make his points. He would let them waffle if they were just demonstrating how stupid or ‘woke’ they are. He argued with naïve young ‘wokies’ to suit his own purposes, and if he sensed that a questioner was not going to be useful to him, or was quoting stuff which he did not want people to hear, he quickly brushed that questioner aside. This is not loving debate in apologetics. It is exploiting people and manipulating them in a public circus. Students are a soft target and anyone can “win” with them or “score points” off them if they have acquired enough knowledge. And that’s what his ministry was all about: Scoring points. The instances I have seen of Mr. CK’s debating technique convinced me that he was a point-scorer with an agenda that no one was going to get past. It was a bit like those fairground stands where you are invited to take part but it has all been cleverly setup so that you lose and have to pay. This has not been lost on others who have examined what lies behind all this “Prove-me-wrong” pseudo-debate. As one insightful observer rightly states, perfectly echoing my thinking on all this:

“It’s a lovely image: Kirk as a modern-day Socrates, wandering the agora of America’s universities seeking to find truth by means of rhetorical contest. Unfortunately, it’s not quite what he was doing... As Kirk’s one-time mentor, former GOP Rep. Joe Walsh, wrote after his death, Kirk was a provocateur. Despite his invitations to ‘debate me’ and ‘prove me wrong,’ he was not interested in a conversation. Kirk was instead the godfather of the ‘Debate Me’ Bros, purveyors of a prevalent internet-based entertainment format that, in an era nearly void of substantive debate, is too often passed off as such” (see <https://www.salon.com/2025/09/17/how-debate-me-bro-culture-ruined-civil-discourse/>).

The rallies at which Mr. CK challenged students to ‘prove him wrong’ were often loaded with MAGA kids cheering on the proceedings. You always saw a sea of those silly red caps cheering everything he said or did. Sorry to say it, but those rallies were manipulative set-ups. People have become so worldly and superficial — so enamoured with showbusiness and the fluff of celebrity — that they seem to think that being admirably spiritual means being able to ‘work a crowd’ confidently like a TV gameshow host, having the ‘gift of the gab’ about religious matters, or being able to win an argument easily in a manipulative ‘prove me wrong’ setup. But these are the qualities of the theatrical stage or a slick market salesman or, as I said above, a fairground barker who knows how to pull ’em in. Most people (especially most professing ‘Christians’) have made themselves so impoverished intellectually and spiritually, and been so ‘dumbed-down’, that they do not know the difference between genuine debate and the tendentious theatrical entertainment churned out by the jacked-up “Debate-me-bros” like Mr. CK was. Really it is all very pathetic. As the writer of the above article also rightly states: “Even the world’s most popular podcast, “The Joe Rogan Experience”, is centered in large part on people who don’t know what they’re talking about arguing with each other under the guise of debate”. Absolutely!

So many are fooled by these Right wing ‘influencers’ because they use the name of Jesus and have cobbled together some theology which seems legit. But they are like the Pied Piper of Hamelin mesmerising you down a pathway strewn with lies but peppered with enough seeming truth to keep those on it who lack discernment and who are easily deceived by appearances. Like the little old lady who lets the slick doorstep salesman into her house who then robs her, these folks who fall for the likes of Mr. CK are taken in by the loveless motivational patter of fanatics whose bandwagon is preparing the way for a mass-surveillance society and global religious federation on the back of which will come global government.

This is why Mr. CK was such a fan of the Pope, who will most likely head up the pseudo-Christian side of that global religious federation. This ‘Dominionist’ religious movement is a manifestation of the “false prophet” mentioned in Revelation 19:20, which is another name for the second beast in Chapter 13 which acts as a fairground barker and PR representative for the first beast (satanically-empowered governance). This is the religious movement which paves the way for the Antichrist, as I have elaborated on in both my commentary on the Book of Revelation and in the second edition of “The Serpent and the Cross” (due out in October 2025). When the Antichrist is revealed, he will be revered by all religions as their promised ‘world teacher’ (most likely including Jewish people who are still awaiting their messiah) AND by many who call themselves “Christians”, who will think this impostor is the returned Christ because their Jesus involved phoney revivalism and a Christianised world and a ludicrous belief that Christ would set up a golden age of 1000 years on this present fallen earth.

One generally finds that people who are clamouring after mass revival or who claim to have a “revival ministry” — especially if they are locating their desired revival in the Endtimes — are false teachers. The Bible knows of no such revival. That is just a made-up triumphalist chimera. They think it is dishonouring to God if the Gospel does not hugely convert the world’s population (despite what Jesus said in Matthew 7:14 about there being comparatively “few” who will be saved). But that is humanistic thinking. Their false type of Charismatic revival is easy to hype up, if one knows how to put people in an altered state of consciousness and to manipulate minds. But none of that has anything to do with the Scriptures and everything to do with Mesmerism. Essentially, huge swathes of the visible church are practising the occult with their artificially-generated ‘revivals’, which is ironic because all those kind of churches claim to be completely opposed to the occult. Satan is having a heyday with these people, most of whom are into the ‘New Apostolic Reformation’ and the ‘Seven Mountain Mandate’.

I saw an article which was saying that we cannot expect too much from Mr. CK because he’s just a simple Calvary Chapel person? That is a ridiculous stance to take. Does that excuse having Mormons and Catholics on your team and holding them in great esteem, wheeling them out in front of easily swayed students? I think not. Does that excuse revering a man of Donald Trump’s disgraceful, massively egocentric character? I think not. Does that excuse being almost singlehandedly responsible for putting a government into office which has draconian intentions to create a heavy-duty surveillance society with digital ID, massively rampant A.I. with no restrictions, and repressive martial law enacted against the population? I think not.

Remember, it is not necessarily by someone’s words that you know that they are wrong but by their fruits, by what they do. Mr. CK has for years been a total playmaker for Trump and Vance (a close friend). He more or less put Trump in office and he absolutely put Vance in office too (and Vance is the real machina obscura in the White House). He has been a family friend and golfing companion of a man like Trump, a man of complete corruption and dissolution, for years. His role has been to get Right wing voters for Trump out of universities and colleges. He has made many tens of millions of $$$ out of arguing with ‘woke’ teenagers on campus under the pseudo-disguise of debate! It all plays to the crowds, who think he is some kind of innocent Christian preacher-boy. But, as one religious media publication said:

“After the first lockdowns in 2020, TPUSA [Mr. CK’s organisation] aligned with charismatic worship leader Sean Feucht, supporting his “Kingdom to the Capitol” tour, a series of revival-style rallies proclaiming the imminent return of Christ. Around the same time, he endorsed the “Seven Mountain Mandate,” a theology promoted by charismatic leaders that calls on Christians to take dominion over key spheres of society: government, education, media, family, business, arts, and religion. Pastors associated with him, McCoy and Feucht, promote this idea and the US Defense Secretary, Pete Hegseth, is a member of a church associated with the Seven Mountain Mandate”

(<https://religionmediacentre.org.uk/news/charlie-kirk-from-secular-activist-to-christian-nationalist-icon/>).

As we have seen, the ‘Seven Mountain Mandate’ distorts the gospel by promoting cultural takeover rather than faithful gospel witness and discipleship. This is what Mr. CK was promoting. As the Wikipedia article about the “Seven Mountain Mandate” says: “When Trump was elected, Kirk said ‘finally we have a president that understands the seven mountains of cultural influence’”. This is NOT a genuinely Christian movement but is closely connected with the Charismatic heretical ‘New Apostolic Reformation’. This is why I say that Mr. CK was a politician rather than a mere evangelical Christian as he called himself. He had a political agenda and had thrown in his lot with the Christian nationalist ‘Seven Mountain Mandate’ movement. His mission was political rather than spiritual because that ‘mandate’ has no biblical backing and is a completely humanistic invention.

Let it be noted here that there are only four truly important mountains which are mentioned in the Bible:

- Mount Sinai, where the law was given under the Old Covenant.
- Mount Zion, located on a hill in Jerusalem, initially referring to the City of David, and later to the Temple Mount, metaphorically referring to the dwelling place of God, the Kingdom of God, the heavenly Jerusalem, and the spiritual people of God, symbolizing a place of salvation, refuge, and communion with God.
- The Mount of Transfiguration (when Jesus showed a fragment of His real power to His disciples).

➤ The Mount of Olives, where Jesus gave a significant sermon (Matthew 24) and from which He ascended to heaven.

These are the four key mountains of the Lord and not the wholly made-up mountains of the 'Seven Mountain Mandate' which have been forced into a Scripture text which does not support it.

III. THE UNBIBLICAL ANTITHESIS

A genuinely spiritual person does not get caught up in the corrupt, artificially-divisive world of politics. The whole thrust of the MAGA cult is that God wants you to influence everything and that as a Christian you should be affecting the world with your unique worldview. I agree with that, up to a point. But I do not have to wear a silly red hat and throw my lot in with a political party and leader to do that. On the contrary. As a genuinely spiritual person, one has insight into the corruptions of the world and can stand back from the fray, not involving oneself in the rabble of it all, for we are not called to do so. The believer and Belial are incompatible (2 Corinthians 6:15).

The whole MAGA thing is essentially a mass gaslighting of professing Christians or 'Truthers' to inveigle them into throwing in their lot with a particular political movement. But the perceptive genuinely spiritual person knows very well that so-called "democratic" politics is a setup involving 'engineered consent' by a power-elite which does not enter the political hustings but directs it secretly from behind the scenes, controlling the media and those who are elected. This is where both Left and Right wings err disastrously. For they both imagine that voting changes the world. It does not and never can. The power-elite uses the voting system as a kind of theatre to mesmerise people with the Left and Right conflict in order to get into office whichever patsy-puppet they have chosen to fulfil whatever they want to happen in the country and the world.

The Left wing, Right wing antithesis is a false one generated by the real power-elite to make you think that if you can vote hard enough for your party then they will get into power and change the world the way you want it to be changed. But have you not noticed what a theatrical circus this all is? A government is voted for and elected on the basis of a whole bunch of lies. People become disillusioned and then vote for "the other lot" which also gets into office on the basis of a whole bunch of lies. It's a merry-go-round (until and unless a bunch get into power who declare autocratic rule). Christian people who are disciples of Christ should not be taken in by this absolute smokescreen baloney and become fodder for a corrupt and worthless voting machine. This false antithesis of Left wing, Right wing is a neverending satanic rabbit hole of distraction which you get sucked into and down when you sign up to the political agenda.

There is a real ‘Antithesis’, to which I obliquely referred earlier in this paper. It is encapsulated in some words in Genesis 3:15 which were spoken directly to Satan: “I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your seed and her seed. He will crush your head, and you will strike his heel”. Not only are those words multi-layered in meaning but they have supreme significance for an understanding of all subsequent developments in the course of world history.

The phrase “enmity between...your seed and her seed” is a prefiguration of the spiritual battle which lies at the heart of the biblical message. Ultimately, the seed of the woman is Christ, but in the context it must also mean every spiritually regenerated human being from the Old and New Covenant eras, and on the other hand, Satan’s fallen angelic accomplices (demons), together with those influenced by them on earth (cf. John 8:44, “offspring of vipers”, Matthew 3:7; 12:34; 23:33). So there are two “seeds” in this world, between which there is a spiritual battle. Good theologians and great commentaries on the Book of Genesis refer to this as the “Antithesis”, which denotes a spiritual battle of cosmic proportions which was set to last until the return of the Lord Jesus Christ at the Last Day. In fact, the Bible is essentially God’s revelation of both this spiritual battle (the Antithesis) and the antidote (the Gospel) which He has provided against the evil caused by the Fall.

So the real antithesis in this world, as shown in Genesis 3:15, is between, firstly, Christ and Satan and, by association, between those who are Christ’s disciples and those who are under the power of Satan (which is almost the whole world). But political organisations give you an entirely false antithesis between Left and Right wings. Thus, those who evangelise under the umbrella of political parties are diverting you away from the real battle in this life into one which is a complete distraction. Surely, that in itself is something which can only benefit Satan. Let me develop this even more, because we are approaching the heart of the matter now.

If you are wondering what could be wrong with being a Christian nationalist, a ‘Dominionist’, a ‘Reconstructionist’ with an imposed ‘Seven Mountain Mandate’ idea, trying to generate mass revival for your country and preaching Jesus in a MAGA cap at a rally, giving away those caps to anyone who shows an interest in what you are preaching, here is my response. A major problem is that the lines get crossed so that there is no room for a person simply to come to Christ; they have to be a MAGA person as well — they have to take the whole package. When you’re selling MAGA at the same time as preaching Christ and you’re giving out red baseball caps to people who show an interest, the implication is that you have to take the whole package. The inference is that you cannot just come to Christ and leave all that MAGA Christian nationalist stuff to one side, but that you have to take the whole thing. It is just another case of the gospel PLUS something else as well. In fact, you are pushing two items which are not compatible. The Bible makes it very clear that we as people of faith have “a better country” than the soil under our feet (Hebrews 11:16). “Our citizenship is in heaven” and not in the USA (Philippians 3:20). So if you are presenting yourself as an evangelist who is pushing the whole ‘MAGA America’ thing, that eclipses the exclusivity of the gospel. In other words, the MAGA gospel makes an idol out of America and thus betrays the true Gospel — a political Judas eclipsing spiritual integrity.

Ultimately, under those circumstances, it all turns into the false gospel of Trump rather than the genuine Gospel of Christ. One cannot serve two masters; so if you are pushing a whole political line along with your alleged gospel message, the implication is that the two go together. It is not the pure gospel but it has become polluted with a political standpoint. The clear implication is that if you do not vote for Trump but instead vote for some other party like the Democrats, then you have strayed away from the gospel. In fact, the MAGA people even call somebody who votes for a Democrat a “demoncrat”, clearly proving that their ‘antithesis’ is between two political wings rather than the real ‘Antithesis’ which is between those who are Christ’s and those who are Satan’s. (Even I have been called a “demoncrat” and a “Libtard” because I wrote something of which Right-wingers disapproved, while Left-wingers have called me “far-right” because do not support their rhetoric!). Therefore, MAGA folks have betrayed the gospel by tainting it with a political viewpoint. In other words, MAGA people, ‘Dominionists’ and ‘Seven Mountain Mandate’ people are preaching another Jesus, because He does not wear a baseball cap of any colour and does not favour one country over another. Thus, their standpoint is not only idolatrous by presenting American patriotism and nationalism at the core of their gospel but they are false evangelists who cannot be trusted. They have polluted truth and turned it into a tacky political rally. You may baulk at this conclusion but this is the false gospel of Turning Point USA and of Mr. CK.

IV. EPILOGUE: Pulling It All Together

Now I will bring this paper to a close with a number of conclusory thoughts which arise as a result of the above material. I could write considerably more about all this, but I feel I have shared enough to convince you that we are dealing here with a deception of monstrous proportions. When I commenced writing, I was hoping that I would soon be convinced that there was nothing really to write about. But I quickly realised that this whole episode is a lavish can of worms which contains so many deceptions and sleights of hand, as well as inexplicable occurrences which need questioning — though one will never reach a satisfactory conclusion because the tracks have been so well-covered.

Frankly, I am weary of having to deal with all this deception and diversion. It is only because I see so many otherwise sensible people waylaid by it that I feel obliged to respond. I know it must be important for me to do so because — being continually prayerful about wanting truth and only truth — I have been awaking in the mornings with a sense of urgency to get going on the writing of it, and this is the result.

The ministry of Mr. CK, and the ‘Dominionist’, ‘Seven Mountain Mandate’ doctrine which he espoused, promised mass revival and a Christianised world, a “golden age” leading to the return of Christ. But this itself is leading people right up the proverbial garden path, promising them something which has no warrant from Scripture. In short, it is a lie. This is why so many of the similarly lying ministries of Charismatic and New Apostolic Reformation ‘revival’ people have endorsed Mr. CK in droves (e.g. Benny Hinn, Paula White, Rodney Howard Browne, etc.). They all share the same lie: The promise of mass revival. A Christianised world ushering in the return of Christ. Those charismatic revivalist ministries, which claim to be in sync with Mr. CK, worship a false Holy Spirit and practise phoney faith healing, sham ‘Spirit-baptism’, and bogus deliverance. Their whole gospel model is a lie; just like Mr. CK’s ‘ministry’ which was based on similar ‘opium’ lies.

In the same way that the Charismatic revivalist preachers with their phoney signs and wonders, false healing crusades and flashy multi-million dollar ministries hide their occultic sorcerous ways behind lots of talk about Jesus, the multi-million dollar Christian nationalists, Dominionists, and ‘Seven Mountain Mandate’ hucksters disguise their hegemonial intentions behind the trappings of ‘Christian-speak’. They are both misusing the name of Christ for evil ulterior motives and have thus polluted the purity of the standalone Gospel of Jesus the Christ.

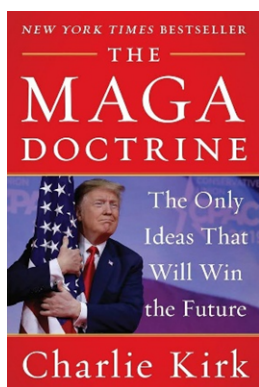

Thus, it is a fact that major heretical ‘revivalist’ ministries will always support and endorse political activities of the likes of TPUSA and Mr. CK because they share common ground in these lies: Mass revival and the Christianising of the planet to usher in the return of Christ — all of which will be used to dupe people (who in normal circumstances would have been resistant to it) into accepting a despotic mass-surveillance society, a global government and a unification of religion which goes way beyond the unity pictured by Christ for His people.

Now that you have read the above pages (if indeed you have!) please answer me this... How many red flags do you need to see flapping in the wind before you capitulate to the realisation that Mr. CK was not all he was cracked up to be. This resistance to truth because of outward appearances seems to me to be part of the "concupiscence of the eyes" which John spoke of in his first letter (1 John 2:16), whereby the superficial pull of visual stimuli take precedent over objective truth discerned by a pure heart. People listen to the brashly slick presentation, the expected 'demolition' of 'woke' or 'leftie' student propositions, and the exclaimed 'woo-woo-woos' from a dedicated MAGA segment in the crowd. It all looks so impressive to those who take everything at face value, at eye level. But if a man can be fooled by so many falsehoods, such as I have enumerated in these pages, then he is not a man to follow. Such a one should take a back seat and learn from his more informed and faithful elders and wise-ones, though they never will, because they need the limelight and would never admit that they are out of line.

The main issue with someone like this is that he completely undoes any credibility through advocating, endorsing, or supporting a whole raft of false teachings and anti-biblical activities: The 'Seven Mountain Mandate', the New Apostolic Reformation, Theonomy, veneration of Mary, hankering after the pope, the 'Make America Great Again' bandwagon, fanatical Trumpism, Mormonism, while even downplaying freemasonry (see <https://www.facebook.com/reel/608035251637260>), etc. Such a man is not a man to be trusted. Above all, he should not have access to the minds and souls of young people.

So let us not forget that Mr. CK and his TPUSA were and are political forces not spiritual ones. He was building a MAGA force, not expanding the body of Christ. As an article rightly states:

"In swing states like Arizona, Wisconsin, Michigan, and Pennsylvania, outreach was tightly focused on people who leaned Republican but historically weren't consistent voters—the kind of people who could tip a close presidential race. Trump insiders viewed it as a "force multiplier," meaning the grassroots work done by TPAAction allowed Trump's campaign and the Republican National Committee to deploy staff and resources more efficiently. At a time when many young Americans were drifting left, Kirk carved out a conservative counterculture that helped change political history. 'He's done an amazing job building one of the most powerful youth organizations ever created,' Trump said last year". [See <https://www.thedailybeast.com/how-charlie-kirk-mesmerized-magaand-help-trump-to-victory/>].

If you do not believe it when I say that Mr. CK was building a MAGA force rather than expanding the body of Christ, the proof is right there on the cover of his book, which will be released as a paperback in November 2025. It is entitled “The MAGA Doctrine: The Only Ideas That Will Win the Future”. (See cover, left). Does that not strike you as strange? If I was to put out a book like that, the title would be “Christian Truth: The Only Teaching Which Will Bring You Back Into Relationship With God and Give you Eternal Life”. You can see that this book title is 100% socio-political and is actually a lie. Nothing political wins the future (whatever that may mean!). The future of the genuine disciple of Christ is in the world to come, not on this fleeting earth (1 Corinthians 7:31). You can also see that it exalts Donald Trump and a flag, almost giving him messianic status, with that horribly smug face of his, devoid of any kind of spirituality. It is a political manifesto for Donald Trump. Mr. CK’s whole output is designed to put political ideas in place of spiritual realities, regardless of what he claimed to the contrary. That was his doctrine.

So many people so easily get into a state of false reverence for another person, treating them as if they are a saint above all saints. This is how cults are created and how they survive. The ascription of virtual messianic status to a mere human is almost as much of an illness as ascribing messianic status to oneself. Accordingly, there is a disturbing trend of hagiography being developed. Hagiography is when an ordinary person is being over-praised or made out to be a saint above all saints in an entirely inappropriate manner, even talking about Mr. CK being raised from the dead (see image, above left)! This is happening with both Donald Trump and Mr. CK. It also happened with Barack Obama when he was first up for election as President in 2008. People queued to touch him at public events so they would be healed! There was even a website dedicated to him as the messiah, which still exists to this very day (see <https://obamamessiah.blogspot.com/>). We are in the same emotionally-manipulated zone as the death of Lady Di, 9/11, the 2015

“Charlie Hebdo” event, and similar, in which there are over-the-top reactions and emotions which border on the hysterical, eliciting statements which are way more baroque than the situation calls for: Comparing Mr. CK to the Apostle Paul (see image, below), mass so-called “revivals” resulting from the shooting (which are pure emotionalism), over-the-top candlelit vigils, the treatment of the corpse as if Mr. CK was a leading political figure such as a president or vice-president, etc. I am embarrassed to say that I have “friends” on social media who still think that the sun shines out of Trump’s tochus. They are obsessed with him and ascribe to him virtual messianic status. It’s the same with Mr. CK. But how does this happen?

One can say that it is a mixture of applied hypnotism and resident stupidity, an inability to develop the necessary discernment and perception in order to live a ‘test-the-spirits’ kind of life. But there is even more which lies behind all this over-the-top adulation. Every human being born into this world comes into it with a huge hole in their hearts. Not a physical one but a spiritual one. There is an unconscious awareness of being in a state of anomie, of being alienated from something good and great, with a longing to be reunited with it. That inner longing and feeling of lostness becomes twisted into numerous false attempted panaceas: Throwing yourself into being absorbed into a relationship (even when that relationship is bad for you); getting involved in an all-embracing cult; trying to blot out the feeling of alienation through drink or drugs; binge-watching TV as an attempted distraction; seeking attention and validation on social media; accruing lots of money and material things; putting something or someone on a pedestal to be treated like a god. It is this last one which is at the heart of all this adulation of Trump and Mr. CK. You see, that hole in the heart spiritually is filled and mended when one comes to Christ. When one has truly repented and given one’s life to Him, one has no need whatsoever to engage in any false attempted panacea. As a disciple of Christ, you are restored into relationship with God because Jesus is your intermediary to Him (1 Timothy 2:5-6). To put someone on a pedestal or ascribe messianic status to them is idolatry and, as a disciple of Christ, you would never do that.

Cardinal Dolan: Charlie Kirk Was Like A "Modern Day St. Paul," Knew What Jesus Meant When He Said "The Truth Will Set You Free"

I am at a loss to understand how any genuine disciple of Christ — who alone has Messianic status — could be so solidly inveigled in this way. I feel like I am with aliens of a different breed when dealing with such people. The Roman Catholic Cardinal Dolan (see image on the previous page) compares him to the Apostle Paul. Rob McCoy and other “evangelical pastors” compare him to the early church martyr Stephen. But Mr. CK was no martyr for the faith and was not killed for his faith. He was a slick political operator using Christian imagery, deliberately provoking ignorant young people. There is nothing spiritual in that. Even the commentator Tucker Carlson compared Mr. CK’s death at the hands of a predator to the death of Jesus (see <https://www.facebook.com/share/v/1BVK2Cr5K4/>). But that is more than ridiculous, even blasphemous. Let us analyse that bizarre comparison from Tucker Carlson with his insane laugh. Jesus was not killed by someone out of the blue; nor was it merely because He stood up to authority. He deliberately laid down His life for His people (John 10:11; 15:13; 1 John 3:16) at a moment that was right, which He knew was coming (Matthew 20:17-18; 26:24a). The death of Jesus was an atoning one for His people, as their substitute. He underwent the pangs of hell on that cross so that His people would not have to. How can one ever compare that to what happened to Mr. CK, who was apparently and surprisingly shot by a deranged young man for nothing other than vindictive spite? There is no comparison!

It does not matter how much truth a professing Christian teacher spouts. He could even spout the absolute whole truth. But that truth will be undermined if that person says or does something else which betrays the truth while carrying other disciples away into teachings and activities which further Satan’s goals in this world. Satan’s methodology is to come at you with a whole bunch of truth in order to disguise the untruth which is masked by it. As Irenaeus of Lyon put it way back in AD 180:

“For no false teaching desires to offer itself to our view openly, lest such exposure should lead to conviction; but, craftily putting on a plausible dress, makes itself by its outward form appear to the simpler sort to be truer than Truth itself”
(Irenaeus of Lyon, Against Heresies or A Refutation and Overthrow of what is Falsely Called Knowledge, Preface, §2).

The problem is that people look at an organisation like Turning Point or Mr. CK himself and see and hear many things with which they can agree and thereby think it must be okay. But this is a very naïve way of thinking. For it is not the similarities between two things which confirm their compatibility or reveal their true relationship. Because if this were the case, one would find that even a hydrogen bomb and a raindrop shared common ground through the fact that they both fall from the skies! Yet, the one is a source of replenishment while the other is incomparably destructive. Seemingly innocuous similarities, taken on their own, can mask something far more serious. It is only through the added knowledge of any differences between two things that one can then come into the full truth of their relationship. And the differences between, on the one hand, the tendentious gospel of MAGA, ‘Dominionism’, the ‘Christian Right’, and the ‘Seven Mountain Mandate’, and on the other hand the fulness of the Gospel of Jesus Christ are enormous. This is why they are not at all compatible. The gospel of Turning Point and of Mr. CK is a false one which has been polluted with politics and a nationalist agenda.

I have often wondered if that whole MAGA bandwagon is a cleverly placed instance of ‘controlled opposition’, whereby genuine disciples of Christ get cunningly sidetracked into distracting involvement with an organisation which works against the real Gospel and which upholds unbiblical untruths. That would work well for both the power-elite and the satanic forces which lie behind it. One certainly cannot ignore the fact that so many people who look as though they are advocating for truth and the biblical cause are actually engaged in ‘controlled opposition’. It is a standard tactic of warfare, therefore Satan must inevitably use it; and I do believe that to be the case with TPUSA and Mr. CK. Maybe human sources are involved too. One cannot know that for sure.

However, Satan is certainly controlling the whole Charismatic movement, its so-called New Apostolic Reformation and the unbiblical ‘Seven Mountain Mandate’ which was initiated by that movement in the 1970s. It is deceiving zealous but undiscerning professing ‘Christians’ into false ecumenism with cultists and false religionists; side-tracking them into political activity masquerading as religious; distracting them with foolish controversies; deceiving them with false teaching and a different gospel; mesmerising them with the ‘cult of the personality’ which Mr. CK represents.

If some little guy from a backwater council estate (US equivalent: The Projects, Public Housing) was stabbed to death for having conservative views, you would not even hear about it and no one would care anyway. But Mr. CK was in the ‘cult of the personality’ Christian celebrity idolatry network. The Christian scene has its ‘celebs’ just like Hollywood, and it is all based on appearances and perceived celebrity. The question you have to ask is “Would a real Christian be made into a hero in this way by all and sundry?” You already know the answer.

Regarding the patriotism of the Christian Right, although it is a good thing to care about the country in which you live and to do what you can to further its well-being, and even defend it from rampaging marauders, one needs to be aware that Patriotism and Nationalism are something else altogether. The word “Patriot” is derived from the Latin word, pater, which means father, via patria, fatherland. My dear friends, you only have one Father in heaven and on Earth. Patriotism is idolatry, making an idol out of your nation and its flag. Improve the land you live in, by all means. But you have a better country, a heavenly one (Hebrews 11:16). The mind of MAGA et al “is set on earthly things. But our citizenship is in heaven. And we eagerly await a Savior from there, the Lord Jesus Christ” (Philippians 3:19-20). So earthly Nationalism is just as much of a snare for Christians as the combative party politics of Left and Right. Please do not ever get caught up in it!

This is why the two words, “Christian Right” represent such an oxymoron. As soon as you adopt a ‘wing’, whether Right or Left, you have sold your birthright for a mere bowl of soup. This is why the so-called “Christian Right” is not really Christian. It promotes Right wing doctrine which in Christian terms is usually ‘Dominionist’ — the ‘Seven Mountain Mandate’ of the Christian nationalists and New Apostolic Reformation. That is what Mr. CK was committed to.

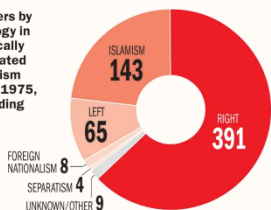

Much will be made of this shooting of Mr. CK. Many will take advantage of it, ramping up their war strategy. Both Left and Right wings love to have an excuse to let rip in vengeance, which of course is not the Christian way. Vengeance belongs to the Lord, but Trump and others think it belongs to them. They hate their enemies. In a September 11th article in The New Republic, the headline was: “Alex Jones and Steve Bannon Warn Charlie Kirk’s Death Means ‘War’. Far-right influencers are using increasingly disturbing rhetoric regarding Kirk’s shooting”. The article went on:

“Republicans have decided that they are at war following the horrific assassination of Charlie Kirk, while simultaneously complaining about violent rhetoric on the left. Without knowing the identity of the shooter, their politics, or what motivated them, grief-fueled right-wingers quickly launched into preparations for a battle against liberals. ‘THIS IS WAR,’ declared Libs of TikTok, the notorious far-right hate account with the Trump administration’s ear, on Wednesday afternoon, before setting off on a doxxing spree of Democrats who’d posted callously about Kirk’s death. Former DOGE czar Elon Musk helped lead the charge, using combative rhetoric to condemn violence from the left—even though the political affiliation of the assassin was still unknown. ‘The Left is the party of murder,’ he wrote on X. In another post, he said: ‘If they won’t let us live in peace, then our choice is fight or die’”. (see <https://newrepublic.com/post/200318/alex-jones-steve-bannon-charlie-kirk-death-war>).

Ideology of political murders

As Trump calls for a crackdown on the "radical left," an analysis from the CATO Institute of 620 politically motivated murders since 1975 shows that when 9/11 is excluded, most political violence comes from the right

Trump Called for a Crackdown on the 'Radical Left.' But Right-Wing Extremists Are Responsible for More Political Violence

The fantasy which the Right wing people love to disseminate is that most political violence comes from the Left wing. But this is not the case at all. A recent investigation for Time Magazine by the libertarian thinktank, the Cato Institute, found that most political violence since 1975 has been perpetrated by the Right wing element (see image, left). I do not share this as any defence of the Left as I have no affiliation to any wing. I am only ever interested in truth, especially Bible truth. But I do wonder if you realize how advanced the apostate agenda really is. It is moving extremely fast now — exponentially so. We have only just begun to see the ripple-down effect of Mr. CK's shooting. It is a watershed event which is going to be used to justify all manner of retaliation in repressive measures, censorship, cancellations, doxxing, the ramping up of Christian nationalist and 'Dominionist' activity, big rallies to hype-up the entire cult of MAGA; maybe even the mass instatement of martial law in the disingenuous name of 'security'. Mr. CK's wife is on the rampage too now that she has been elevated to CEO of the 'Turning Point USA' organisation — and they are all raising huge amounts of money out of the sympathy element.

Finally, as I said at the beginning, I am not making any kind of statement about the soul-condition of Mr. CK, his eternal standing before God. That is not my place. But for someone who professed to be an "evangelical Christian" he certainly endorsed a whole lot of things which just do not square-up with Scripture and spiritual reality.

I commit this paper to you now, and pray that it will open eyes to be able to make sense of what is happening in this fallen world, to discern the vast deceptions in it, and to envisage where it is heading in the future.
